Dear Mr. Goodman,

Thank you for your generous gift of $1,115.47 to Today's Innovations, Tomorrow's Healthcare: Campaign for Cleveland Clinic, designated for the Pediatric Hematology Oncology Fund. Your support is a key part of Cleveland Clinic's success as a leading nonprofit academic medical center and, for that, we are deeply grateful.

Every year, Cleveland Clinic provides treatment to more than 2.5 million men, women, and children, many of who come to us from across the country and around the world. Though they are unique individuals with their own particular challenges, hopes, and fears, our patients share a common belief. They trust that by choosing Cleveland Clinic as their healthcare provider, they will receive the highest quality treatment. Because of contributions like yours, we are able to guarantee that same dedicated commitment to quality today that our founders promised their patients more than 85 years ago.

As a member of our community of donors, you understand the impact that each gift to Cleveland Clinic has on our ability to advance our mission of excellence in patient care, research, and medical education, while growing to serve more people in more places. Every day, contributions like yours enable our physician scientists to work at the leading edge of innovation, and to explore new and better ways to treat patients and manage disease.

On behalf of the physicians, staff, and patients of Cleveland Clinic, thank you for your ongoing support.

Sincerely,

Bruce A. Loessin
Senior Vice President
Institutional Relations and Development
