For on that day, Bellefaire JCB gets to acknowledge two once-in-a-lifetime events with a can't-miss dinner at Executive Caterers.

Even in a community noted for its generosity, it would be hard to name someone who has given more of himself than vic gèlb. For decades, whenever there was a new philanthropic undertaking being developed, vic's name was always one of the first to be mentioned. He was Chairman of the Bellefaire Board and a long-time supporter of the agency. Indeed, vic has been involved in one way or another with Bellefaire for over thirty years.

Since 2000, the Monarch School on the campus of Bellefaire JCB has been successful in educating children with Autism. So successful, in fact that an expanded and improved 22,500 square foot school is a necessity and will open this Fall.
